

*George Caleb Bingham and
The Verdict of the People*

Different day, same shit.

TREBITCH TIMES

January 2017

trebitchtimes.noblogs.org

MESSINGAROUND

Spring 2017

aboulder.com

The following George Caleb Bingham pieces appear detoured by Leopold Trebitch:

Front Cover: The Verdict of the People, 1854

Centerpiece: The County Election, 1852

Page 12: Stump Speech, 1853-1854

SUPPORT J20 DEFENDANTS!!

On January 20, 2017, tens of thousands of people converged in Washington, D.C. to oppose the inauguration of Donald Trump. A combination of blockades, marches, and festive demonstrations shattered the spectacle of a peaceful transition of power, and made it clear that people do not recognize Trump's authority. What could have been a day signaling resignation and defeat became a moment of defiance and resistance. As such, the protests on J20 set a tone and precedent for the events that unfolded shortly after, including the notably successful, mass direct actions at airports against Trump's Muslim ban, as well as ongoing resistance to deportations.

But with resistance comes repression. On J20 police cordoned off an entire block and mass arrested more than 230 people in an attempt to stop an anti-capitalist and anti-fascist march. While mass arrests are not unheard of, in this case arrestees are each being charged with felony riot, a charge that potentially carries ten years in prison. More trumped up charges may be on the horizon.

With these heightened charges the state is trying to set a precedent for harsh crackdowns of disruptive protest in the future, so that Trump can proceed with his agenda unimpeded by anything but symbolic hand-wringing. This strategy corresponds with a broader wave of repression and reaction, from the arrests and grand jury investigations of Indigenous water protectors at #StandingRock to backlash against black-led uprisings against police. The arrests at J20 also inform local strategies for repression, including anti-protest laws that have been proposed in 18 different state legislatures, which further criminalize commonly used tactics like highway takeovers.

The charges against J20 defendants are an experiment. If the courts are able to successfully prosecute those arrested at J20, this will send a green light to the forces of repression seeking to contain, control, and eliminate social movements around the country. Just as all of our struggles are connected, we understand these arrests to represent a real threat to all efforts towards true freedom, dignity, and autonomy.

More info at:

dclegalposse.org // defendj2oresistance.org

itsgoingdown.org // crimethinc.com